NEXT WEEK

Join us for Geography’s Graduation Celebration!

Graduation is next week! To celebrate our undergraduate students who will be graduating next week, please join the UGA Geography Department on Thursday, May 12th at 4pm in the Geography-Geology Building, room 200C. (There will also be a livestream option for those who aren't able to attend in-person, the zoom link for which will be sent out to registrants on Monday, May 9th.)

In addition to presenting our graduates, we will also have student speakers and get to hear from returning alum, Marie Frías Sauter (A.B. Geography, '82). Sauter currently serves as the Superintendent and Park Manager at White Sands National Park in New Mexico, where she makes policy decisions, interfaces with politicians and elected officials, and provides direction for the park.

In-person attendees may park in the Tate Student Center Deck the day-of the event. (Parking rates for visitors can be found on the Transportation and Parking Services website.)

Dress code: business casual (please no caps and gowns)

All are welcome to register to attend either in-person or virtually. We're looking forward to seeing everyone soon and celebrating our wonderful graduates! (For those who are unable to attend, a recording of the celebration will be uploaded to UGA Geography's YouTube channel.)

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

News & Reminders

- Keep Cobb Beautiful Internship

Keep Cobb Beautiful is seeking an intern to assist staff with litter prevention, recycling and environmental resource related projects. The summer intern will focus on ROW (right-of-way) observations, data collection and cleanup.

General News and Announcements

Starting the week of May 20th, the Graticule Weekly Newsletter will be released every two weeks. If you have any news or events you’d like to share during the summer, please share them with Kajal Patel well in advance. The newsletter will return to a weekly release starting August 12th.
